Who is Ms. Swann?

Nareca Swann is a young, native Grand Bahamian who inspires to make her mark as a renown business woman. My passion from a child was to be a entrepreneur, endeavoring to advance myself as well as my country on a global level.

The inspiration for this business came from my past work/business experiences. It is amazing but every job experience I had seem to prepare me for this moment. I saw that this type of business was needed in the Bahamas and once the idea came to me, paired with my passion for business, the INSPIRATION was formed.

I have been around business all my life - I grew up in a family business. Business is all I know. However, I personally was in a business of my own for eight years.

I am presently attending college and enrolled in an apprenticeship program in International Trading.

I desire to achieve much success in my new business venture. I am excited about this business because it would not only afford myself to be profitable, but I would be able to network with numerous existing businesses and help them to be more profitable.

More Information About Go – Trade Business Expo and what to Expect!!!

Young entrepreneur, and founder of GOGlobal is once again seeking to connect business owners across the island and country together, this time, through her latest venture, GO-Trade Business Expo 2013.

“As a young entrepreneur in Grand Bahama for the past 10 tens years I observed that the economy of Grand Bahama was slowing down. This opened my eyes as I started to study the international market, especially since I worked in my family business and dealt with international clients from around the world.”

“What I observed was that we needed to connect with more international companies abroad to keep the economy going. With their investment in our economy this would create more jobs and put us on the map internationally. I also want to have GO-TRADE events in other islands of the Bahamas, the Caribbean and around the world.”

Aside from business executives, the event also caters to those with specific talents and skills who may not own or want to own a business. The event will show these people how to market themselves, and how to professionally present themselves, and their work, to potential clients or employers.

Connecting talented individuals and future entrepreneurs, Go-Trade Business Expo will bring together people, products, and services. Grand Bahama has a lot of talent and diverse people: from the budding artist, straw vendor, the pop singer, or business-savvy individual. The event will also cater to foreign-based companies already operating in the Bahamas, as well as businesses throughout North America who wish to sign up as vendors.

Expect to get information, and gain knowledge about how to brand and market your business internationally and locally. Make your business more profitable $$!!
